

Hydramax Workholding System

The Hydramax Workholding System is designed to allow multiple parts, with variations in size to be secured in a standard Kurt style vise simultaneously. Problems usually associated with attempting to hold multiple parts in one vise are virtually eliminated. Save time and money without the hassles of broken cutters, scraped parts, or damaged fixtures. Also, fragile parts can be held securely, without crushing pressure.

Both External and internal applications

